35 36 37 STATEMENT

38
39 At present, upon the death of a retirant of the Police and Firemen's 40 Retirement System (PFRS), there is paid to the widow or widower a 41 pension of 50% of average final compensation (the average annual 42 salary upon which contributions are made for the three years of 43 creditable service immediately preceding retirement or death or the 44 average annual salary for which contributions are made during any 45 three fiscal years of membership providing the largest possible benefit 46 to the member or the beneficiary). To qualify for this pension, a

1 spouse must be married to a retirant for at least two years before the 2 date of the retirant's death. This requirement has harmed divorced
3 women who have been awarded a portion of a retirant's retirement
4 allowance in a divorce decree but were not entitled to have that 5 payment continue upon the retirant's death. This bill seeks to remedy 6 this problem by providing that if a retirant is divorced and if the 7 divorce decree provides that the ex-spouse shall receive a portion of 8 the retirant's retirement allowance, the ex-spouse, if not remarried, 9 shall continue to receive that amount, up to 50% of average final 10 compensation, upon the retirant's death. If the retirant has remarried 11 at least two years before the date of death and continued to be 12 married at the date of death, the spouse shall receive a pension of 50%
13 of average final compensation less the amount payable to the retirant's 14 ex-spouse pursuant to a divorce decree.

15 This act shall take effect immediately and is retroactive to July 1, 16 1995. Any widow or widower receiving a pension prior to the 17 enactment date of this act who would be ineligible to continue to 18 receive the full pension after the effective date of this act shall 19 continue to receive the full pension.
