This bill requires municipal police departments which hire certain persons as police officers within 120 days of their resignation as sheriff's officers to reimburse their former employers for costs incurred in their hiring and training.

If the person resigned as a sheriff's officer during the period of probationary appointment or within the first 30 days of permanent appointment, the police department would be required to reimburse the officer's former employer for the total certified costs incurred in examining, hiring and training the officer. If the person who resigned as a sheriff's officer held a permanent appointment to that position for more than 30 days but less than two years, the police department hiring that person would be required to reimburse the officer's former employer for one-half of the total certified costs. These costs are defined by the bill as the costs of qualifying examinations, advertisements for these examinations, course fees, and the base salary received by the officer while attending the training course.

These requirements are similar to those now provided under P.L.1987, c.47 (C.40A:14-178) for the hiring and training of county and municipal police officers by other counties and municipalities.

Requires reimbursement to counties for training costs of certain former employees.
