Fiscal Year 2017 was a challenging year for families, individuals, advocates and provider agencies due to a complete redesign of the state’s payment for services and new service system. This redesign required a transition from a state contracted service system to fee-for-service system. The NJ Council on Developmental Disabilities (NJCDD) responded to individual and family questions, concerns, and disruptions in the services individuals were receiving for years. The challenges individuals and families faced impacted the provider community as well. NJCDD hosted many forums, education days. Printed materials were also developed to during the transition.

NJCDD FY17 report provides a summary of goals and targeted objectives. NJCDD’s year one of the 2017-2021 Five-Year Plan focused on laying the ground work toward overall plan accomplishment. NJCDD focused on the following areas during FY17:

- Transportation
- Health and Wellness
- Housing
- Direct Support Staffing Issues
- Employment
- Self-Advocate and Family Training & Information
- Special Education Advocacy

NJCDD used a variety of methods to address its goals. NJCDD staff played a vital role in conducting local and statewide meetings. NJCDD partnered with the NJDD Network: Disability Rights New Jersey and the Boggs Center to achieve established goals. NJCDD also worked closely with the newly-formed NJ Developmental Disabilities Advocacy Network (NJ DDAN) as well as additional system partners/stakeholders. Focus groups, surveys, training sessions, website development and resource sessions were among a few of the strategies used to complete targeted outcomes.

NJCDD awarded sub-contracts and renewed current contracts in FY17 to achieve targeted goals. NJCDD staff remained engaged in sub-contract activity.
Significant accomplishments in FY17 include expanding and strengthening the DD Network collaboration, as well as the collaboration with other system partners and state administrators. The system redesign in New Jersey forced all stakeholders to organize around changes impacting many aspects of the service system.

NJCDD staff and Council members participated in listening sessions, informational meetings, focus groups, read letters and took phone calls from individuals and families being impacted by the system redesign. There was a significant increase in feedback from impacted individuals and their families. The NJCDD remained engaged by increasing informational sessions with individuals and families while maintaining regular communication with state officials.

NJCDD’s significant FY17 accomplishments include the following:

1. Direct Support Staffing Issues: NJCDD funded the Coalition for a Direct Support Professional (DSP) Living Wage. This funding permitted the Coalition to study DSP wage issues in New Jersey and across the country. Materials were established to promote the DSP living wage issues and to educate individuals with I/DD and their families, providers, DSPs and the legislature. As a result, the NJ legislature approved increased funding that supported a onetime salary/bonus adjustment to most DSPs working within the DD service system.

2. Self-Advocate and Family Training and Information: Self-advocate and family engagement during statewide information sessions improved during FY17. Individuals and families actively participated during meetings and hearings across the state.

3. NJ Developmental Disabilities Advocacy Network (NJ DDAN): The first NJ DDAN organized as the system redesign in NJ from a state system that had contracted for services with providers for more than four decades. The contracted system transitioned to a fee-for-service delivery system. The state also transitioned from a state case management system to a privatized system using support coordinators.

4. Housing: Through a contract with The Supportive Housing Association of New Jersey (SHA), a housing resource guide was developed to provide a road map for individuals with I/DD and their families. This guide is available in English and Spanish. The resource guide has been an excellent tool for helping individuals and families navigate a variety of methods of accessing housing in New Jersey.

New Jersey is facing a host of critical concerns as it transitions from a contracted to a fee-for-service environment for most of its service system. It has been challenging to remain focused on all areas while continuing the work within our five-year plan. NJCDD will prioritize its efforts to address new issues raised by individuals with I/DD and their families while remaining focused on its five-year plan goals/objectives.

NJCDD acknowledges the importance of engaging with all system partners in its day to day work. This engagement is more critical than ever as resources become more limited.

Council Projects

People First New Jersey

People First is an international advocacy movement for people with disabilities. NJCDD launched it in New Jersey during 2014. People First is grounded in the philosophy that all people with disabilities are capable and entitled to pursue advocacy on their own terms. People First chapters strive to be as independent as possible, setting their own agendas and maintaining their own network of volunteers and partners.

In New Jersey, People First chapters have been established in a number of counties. Chapters are assisted by the NJCDD’s People First Coordinator, Jaymes Brill. They are led by advocates chosen solely by chapter members. Members work together to identify and organize the advocacy and fellowship activities on which they focus their efforts.

NJCDD’s People First Coordinator and advocates gave People First New Jersey presentations at 9 schools and community organizations, speaking to more than 800 students and community members. People First New Jersey information and resources were also disseminated at resource fairs, conferences, and other community events across the state, reaching individuals with I/DD and stakeholders.

Youth Leadership

The NJCDD’s Youth Leadership Project works with schools and community organizations to provide leadership and advocacy training to young adults with developmental disabilities aged 15 to 25. While attending fun and engaging training sessions, these young people develop valuable skills to become the next generation of disability advocates in our state.

Over the course of eight two-hour sessions, participants hone their advocacy and public speaking skills, participate in team-building exercises, and develop a better understanding of how government and public policy works. The program encourages its participants to carry the variety of skills and knowledge that they gain into the world of self-advocacy.

During FY 2017, 50 participants attended NJCDD Youth Leadership training program. As these young people with disabilities move on from the program, the NJCDD will continue to encourage their advocacy with the hope that they will continue speaking up for themselves and all people with disabilities.

Anti-Bullying Presentations – 17 presentations, 2,845 attendees
R-Word Presentations – 6 presentations, 150 attendees
